Bureau of Indian Affairs Alaska Native Enrollment Statistics 1953 – 1977

by Thomas (Tom) R. Hopkins

Starting in fiscal year 1953 the BIA published annually, “Statistics Concerning Indian Education.”(U.S. Department of Interior) The BIA ceased publication in 1977. My last job with the BIA was division chief for the system in Education Evaluation and Research. This office was abolished by a Deputy Assistant Secretary of Interior in 1979, the year I left BIA. My division had the file copies of all the statistical publications from Fiscal Years 1953 – 1977 . Since they were to be trashed I took them with me. The enrollment statistics reflect a history of BIA Education Policy regarding Alaska Natives. The enrollment report was developed during the summer at the end of the school year, i.e. 1953 Fiscal Year was for the school year 1952-53. The data have a general accuracy that can be useful to researchers and/or community people. It is assumed that some libraries will have complete sets of the Statistics.

Regarding myself, I worked at three BIA Alaska Native schools: Barrow 1953-54; Shungnak 1954-56 and Mt. Edgecumbe 1958 – 63. I continued my involvement in Native education from 1964 – 79 as a member of the BIA’s Washington Office. At the Washington Office level I was able to stay involved through initiating and supporting Bilingual Education, a needs assessment and school evaluations.

It is important that during the years covered in the statistics BIA Education employees, including teachers, were classified civil servants and worked twelve months a year. The Statistics were developed during the summer months when the BIA teachers conducted the, “Annual School Census.” Later, when the Congress passed a law (95-561) removing teachers from the Civil Service and making them nine or ten month contract employees, on the pattern of public schools, the Annual Census was lost.

The introductory pages to the Statistical reports contained excellent descriptions of the BIA’s Education Program objectives. For example, The FY 1957 report includes an historical sketch as well as an expression of the Education Program’s objective. It said:

For more than three centuries Indian education in the United States was largely under the direction of missionaries. As early as 1568 the Jesuit Fathers organized a school at Havana, Cuba, for Indian children from Florida. This was the first school attended by Indian children who lived within the United States

The primary objective of Federal schools is to prepare Indians for successful living. In Federal schools children develop basic academic skills, acquire an understanding of the social and economic world, learn improved standards of living, follow practices which assure optimum health, acquire the necessary vocational training to qualify for gainful employment, and obtain sufficient education to enter special schools and institutions of higher learning. (pp. 1-2)

In these days of high stakes testing and accountability, the FY 1957 report expresses reasonableness that has been lost.

Carol Barnhardt's, Historical Status of Elementary Schools in Rural Alaskan Communities, has an excellent record of the transfer of schools from BIA to Territory and ultimately to the State of Alaska. (Barnhardt, 1985) Barnhardt has created and established a solid and comprehensive historical foundation for Alaska Native education even though her work includes all schools be they Territorial, State or Borough. I have provided a "COMMENT" field for each school and included in it information from Barnhardt's, "Tables: Community/Date/Operating Agency/Source." (Section II, pp. 7-52) The BIA Alaska Native enrollment statistics provided in this work add a modest increment to Barnhardt's foundation.

The codes for "Grade Taught" need some explanation. "B" is what the BIA used for "Beginning Students," which normally would have been grade one. Hildegard Thompson, head of BIA Education starting in 1953, used this designation. In 1953 most all Indian and Native children entering BIA schools spoke English as a second language. Thompson thought the first year of school should be used to teach English as a second language and then the children could start first grade. This meant that Native children would enter first grade at age 7 or older. It also meant that the sequence of grades at a B – 8 school was:

- |                 |                  |
|-----------------|------------------|
| 1. Beginner     | 6. Fifth grade   |
| 2. First grade  | 7. Sixth grade   |
| 3. Second grade | 8. Seventh grade |
| 4. Third grade  | 9. Eighth grade  |
| 5. Fourth grade |                  |

Principals at BIA bush school had a great deal of authority and latitude. They were required to report grades taught as B – 8 but for many village schools the "B" was a formality. Principals informally and in deference to convention would locally offer grades one through eight. In the 1950's there was minimal oversight by BIA regarding the education program at a school. When a school was strict in following the B – 8 grades for elementary schools, they were offering nine grades of instruction to complete the eighth grade. Barrow, in 1953-54 was a true B – 8 school and was following the BIA grades program. Overageness for grade placement among Indians and Natives attending BIA schools in the times covered by the statistics could be attributed to the official grade structure of the program rather than to problems of the students. To insiders to the BIA Education Program, overageness for grade placement could not be measured by public school programs. Based on my experience teaching in BIA elementary schools during 1953 – 56, it was common practice to "double promote" children who had mastered English. The ages of students in grade six at Barrow in 1953-54 ranged from eleven to eighteen. Several students had been promoted from grade four to grade six.

Numbers referred to grades. The "S" was defined as "Special – Vocational training, including veterans." Starting about 1970 the BIA was funded for Kindergarten and the "K" started to replace the "B". The "Grades Taught" tell a story about the education program at small village schools. As an example, I will use Shungnak where I taught from 1954 – 1956 and submitted the enrollments to the Juneau Area Office for these years. Table 1 below shows the enrollments from 1953 – 1959 which includes my time at Shungnak

We were told informally that Shungnak had an unsatisfactory teacher previous to us. The teacher had never been awarded “Career” status in the Civil Service, which told him he should resign, and he did. We were told he spent most of his time on non-teaching duties, such as writing letters to support the building of a landing strip for the village. Visitors said that he spent a great deal of classroom time showing “B” Westerns and teaching the children Broadway musicals such as, “Oklahoma,” the peals of which could be heard regularly as one approached the school building. He had claimed to be teaching B – 8 grades. When school opened in September of 1954, 15 students showed up. Eventually, by the end of October there were 28 enrolled. Since there were no-up-to-date records at the school I had no way of accurately knowing the instructional levels of the children. The ages of the children ranged from 6 – 13 which led me to believe that the possible span of grades to be taught would be B – 6. There were no students older than 13 due to a flu epidemic a few years back which claimed their lives. Since the records were not kept up I asked the children to choose the books they had been using. Because of their limited understanding of English they thought I meant for them to pick out the books they wanted to learn from. Consequently they picked the more colorful books which I soon learned were in many cases, inappropriate. Eventually, I learned that no child was beyond the fourth grade in learning so I reported B – 4 for FY 1955 and B – 5 for FY 1956. I notice that the teacher who followed went back to B – 4.

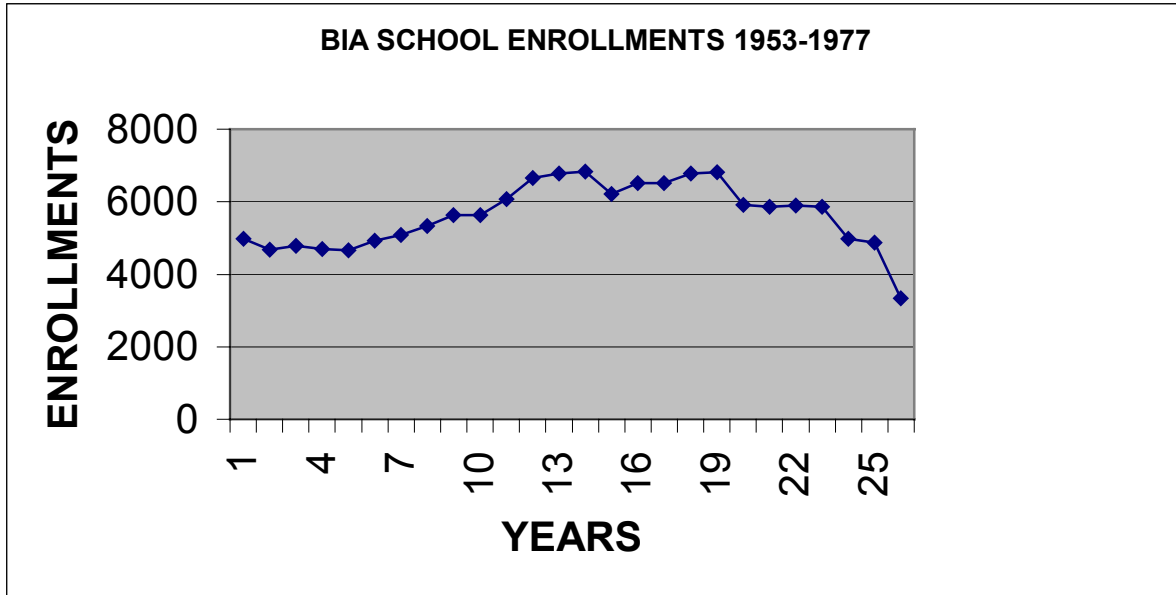

The reader might wonder about the meaning of the “Grades Taught” fluctuations. The changes could be attributed to all sorts of situations at a village and could range from graduations, dropouts, illnesses through tuberculosis, family migrations, didn’t like the teacher, differences in teacher quality, families staying at fish and hunting camps away from the village, or the BIA taking some action regarding providing insufficient teachers for a school, etc. Many fluctuations would probably involve fringe families while there would remain a core of families who would send their children to school regardless.

The graph below illustrates the enrollment numbers from Table 2, above.. The decline of BIA responsibility for Native Education is shown by the declining enrollments from 1970 –1977. Carol Barnhardt’s elementary schools history provides details for the transfer of schools from BIA to the State. Regarding the graph, the numbers on the “X” axis, 1 = 1953 and 25 = 1977.

Another look at the data gives the same story as Table 2 is a count of the number of schools submitting enrollment data each year. Table 3 shows this data and Figure 2 illustrates the data. The trend is the same as the totals for the enrollment report years.

All during my professional involvement with Native and subsequently, American Indian education, (1953 to the present) there has been the continuous policy of transferring BIA schools to states and later under the Self-Determination policy and statutes, to tribes. I have witnessed over 50 years of Congressional efforts to get the BIA out of the school operations business. Yet, there are still BIA operated schools. Charles Ray (1973) produced an excellent “Historical Perspective” on the evolving of a single school system for Alaska up to 1973. I have often wondered about the Congressionally established Policy of Indian Self-Determination and the BIA Native school transfers to the state. Was there a role played by Native villages which were incorporated under the Indian Reorganization Act(s) (IRA)? For example, the Village of Shungnak approved an IRA “Corporate Charter” June 18, 1946 by a vote of 62 to 2. It was signed by then Village Council President, George Cleveland. According to the enrollment data and Carol Barnhardt’s history, Shungnak School was transferred to the State in 1971, about the time of formalization of the Self Determination policy. These IRA Charters are as legal today as when they were signed. Ironically, the IRA Charter was a key factor when the Federal Government was considering creating a, “Kobuk Native (Indian) Reservation,” during 1940-47. The Reservation effort was abandoned when the village officially voted it down. Was there a similar vote by the village in 1971 when the Shungnak School was transferred to the State? To have had a meaningful vote would have tacitly meant the Federal Government would support a separate Federal school system for Natives. Politically, this would have been unacceptable to the Congress and the State of Alaska. Ray Barnhardt (2005) who maintains a running account of “Milestone Events” on Native education reports, “Last BIA schools closed,” in 1985.

There is another interesting story reflected in the Statistics. When I taught at Barrow in 1953-54 I noticed two Eskimo teachers. I was told that they were “Instructional Aids (IA)” and one had graduated only from the Barrow eighth grade. He taught second grade and was a truly outstanding teacher and man. The other aide taught the Beginners. Later in the year, I learned that there was an Instructional Aide at the Meade River school and one at the Barter Island school. It was the practice of the BIA to provide schools for as few as eight or nine children and to staff them with paraprofessional Natives when professional teachers were not available. These schools were usually in very remote locations and the facilities often substandard. Interestingly enough, the BIA provided a separate enrollment category which they named, “Instructional aid schools.” IA schools were an important option which the BIA freely used from before 1953 to 1965. Table 4 above provides the total IA school enrollment data which was reported in the BIA annual statistical report. It will be noted that only three schools remained continuously as IA during 1953 – 1964.

There is a probable procedure regarding IA schools. Based on my experience, 1953-56 and 1958 – 1963, the BIA kept fairly good data on where Native people might possibly need a school. The BIA was always in contact with the Department of Education of the Territory and later with the State and would discuss the need for a school with them. Based on my memory, the local communities in need were contacted but did not always make the decision about establishing a school. The decision to establish a school was always government to government between the Federal Government (BIA) and the Territory or State Department of Education. For instance, take the probable naming of the Rhoda Thomas School. Rhoda, a non-Native, was a long time BIA teacher and later Education Specialist last stationed at Fairbanks. She had taught in village schools for many years and was well respected and loved by every one whom I knew who knew her. When there was a collection of a sufficient number of families to justify a school, it got named after Rhoda. Though I don't know the true story behind the naming, I would speculate that the BIA named the school to honor Rhoda's long career and commitment to Native education.. Otherwise, school naming decisions were mostly based on Native input and knowledge of the location.

COMMENT: NOT OPERATING 1958-73, STATE OPENED 1973-1980. THE 1957 ADA OF 12 WAS EXPLAINED BY BIA THUSLY, "ADA IS HIGHER THAN ENROLLMENT DUE TO TRANSFERS TO OTHER SCHOOLS. ORIGINAL ENROLLMENT IS REDUCED TO AVOID COUNTING TWICE; ADA IS RETAINED SINCE IT DOES NOT APPEAR ELSEWHERE."
