Nome, Alaska. May 22nd. 1913.

Walter L. Barbour, M. D.

Kotzebue, Alaska.

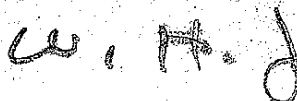

Dear Doctor;

Your letter and vouchers at hand. Inclosed are checks for you and Mrs. Barbour. Of course I know that you can not cash these checks at Kotzebue but I will take achance that you may need the money and U. S. Treasury checks are pretty good collateral in case you wish to make a loan. Your personal vouchers aggregate \$55.00; your salary \$120.00 and Mrs. Barbour's Dec. March and $\frac{1}{2}$ April salary \$150.00. You have a small balance on your medical, about 15 dollars (\$15.00) so you have alittle to fall back on if I should happen to get a voucher that has been held back enrout. I trust that they are all.

You have an account at Nome of $7.35. Gee, I hope you don't want that many stamps. At least I am not sending you any for you would have no chance to use them before going out and this money is on credit at Lomen Bros. studio, where you can get the cash or stamps or anything that you wish, in the stationery line.

Best regards to you all.

Very respectfully yours,

Special Disbursing Agent.
