

Kotzebue

Nome, Alaska. Nov. 29, 1913

Miss Cora B. Hawk,
Kotzebue, Alaska.

My dear Miss Hawk :

Mrs. Shields and myself were very sorry that we were not on hand to see you when you were in Nome this summer. However, we would not have missed our summer at home, ever for that! By the time I see you late in January you will have become quite at home at Kotzebue and may have given over being homesick for St Lawrence. That seems to be a place that even the attractions of Nome have not entirely effaced from Miss Andersons memory.

You should have a good large school at Kotzebue. You will have a very good chance to build the work y up. It has not been going quite as well as it should for the past few years. I look forward to seeing your schoolroom well filled. It is possible that you will need a few small articles for the school or the residence. I wish I could give you a good authorization, but $15.00 is the very best that I can do. This card should have been sent to you a month ago but got mislaid.

I leave in a few days for Norton Bay and will not start north until after the New Year.

With bestwishes for a Merry Christmas,

Very truly yours,
