Dear Sir.--

Enclosed herewith is a letter containing instructions regarding the native John Serinnuk. It is our opinion that since he has been married many years to the elder woman, and has children by her, that he should give up the younger woman, and have no further connection with her. She should leave his cabin and live with her relations until such time as she could settle to advantage otherwise. John should have no further connection with her unless it is to provide for the child. You will please send to this office a copy of your letter addressed to the court, or notify me that such letter had been sent, together with the date of yours.

Very Truly Yours,

G. H. Davis

You will turn over these instructions to your successor.
